

Go with Greta to Nicaragua

RUNAROUND QUESTIONS

This is a game which is suitable for the intergenerational celebration or for any of the sessions, although it is better to use it towards the end of a topic so that participants can use their knowledge rather than guesswork to pick the correct answers. Label the four corners of the room A, B, C, and D. Call out the first question and participants run to stand in the corner corresponding to what they think is the correct answer. Give them the option to change their mind by shouting "Runaround". Then announce the correct answer. All those who failed to identify the correct answer are now out. Alternatively, you could just run it as a multi-choice quiz.
